It was noted that the U.S. Department of Homeland Security's Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) and the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) will conduct the first ever nationwide test of the Emergency Alert System (EAS). This nationwide test will occur on Wednesday, November 9, 2011 at 2 PM eastern standard time and may last up to three and a half minutes. The EAS is a national alert and warning system established to enable the President of the United States to address the American public during times of national emergencies. Dr. Gene Kaiser gave a briefing on a High Frequency (HF) radio communications network that he worked on early in his career that provided links between the former Sonderstruom Air Force Base located in Greenland sixty miles north of the Arctic Circle and two Distant Early Warning (DEW) Line radar stations located below the North Pole. The DEW Line consisted of a string of continental defense radar installations that stretched from Alaska to Greenland which provided early warning of any invasion from Soviet nuclear bombers during the Cold War.

The next PARC meeting will be the annual Christmas party with refreshments scheduled for Wednesday December 7, 2011 at 12:00 PM in the Pentagon MARS Station, room 5D1061A.
